Business & Commercial Law

Robert Horner accepts instruction predominantly in contractual disputes.

His recent cases include:

- Advising a prospective football agent in connection with losses arising out of a cancelled flight.
- Advising a holiday maker in respect of a luxury holiday that fell far below expectation.
- Advising a local authority in connection with a claim against a contractor for alleged poor installation of a child's playground
- Advising a restaurant in connection with a claim for a loss of profit arising out alleged poor refurbishment and installation of a kitchen.

Robert provides an insightful attention to detail coupled with well balanced judgment to any matter in which he is instructed. His style of advocacy and his manner in dealing with the opponents and the court is both precise and persuasive. His practical user friendly approach is well received by clients.

Robert is an accredited mediation advocate.
